MARKETING MEMO

March 31, 2021

PRODUCT OVERVIEW:

As with all BlueChart updates, we have made many changes, including Notice to Mariner corrections (as issued by official sources), navaid changes, improved shoreline, new hazards and new chart editions available since the last release. Fishing charts have also been improved to include the latest contouring available, complemented by crowdsourced depth data to yield a powerful fishing tool. In the U.S., National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration raster charts have also been updated.

The highlight of this release includes updated and expanded relief shading in many areas of North America and the Caribbean, parts of Europe, Australia and 20 lakes in S. Africa. Also included are post-Hurricane Dorian coastline updates to Bahamas charts, significant updated chart detail, including new routing systems in Denmark, Holland, Sweden, Australia, as well as new lakes in Poland (includes new surveys), plus inland waters of the U.K., Spain and Portugal.

Relief shading for the U.S. waters is preloaded on BlueChart g3® Vision marine charts. In Europe, Australia, New Zealand, S. Africa and other areas, the relief shading feature, where available, can be downloaded to BlueChart g3 Vision cards via the ActiveCaptain® app.

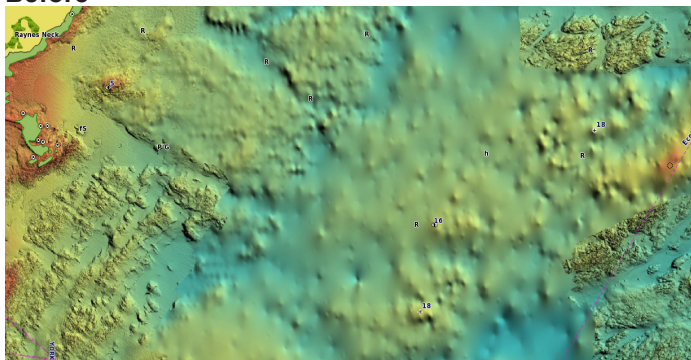

The easy-to-interpret, stunning color palette reveals complex and intricate bottom detail of channels, offshore shelves, reefs, wrecks and sandbars, so boaters can better understand their surroundings at a glance and anglers can more easily identify fish-holding structure. The resolution of relief shading can vary. As new or better source data is acquired, our charts are updated. Check our Relief Shading Q&A in the Marine Support Center on Garmin.com.

Updates apply only to BlueChart g3 and BlueChart g3 Vision.
